BIG BAD SHAKIN' – probably the craziest band around! Their all-new album "KING" is a blast to paralyzing conventions and provides a new future for ailing musical genres. Their one-of-kind offer is an explosive mix of 1950's American Rock'n'Roll, Skate and Glam Rock which BIG BAD SHAKIN' have come to call Rockin' Cartoon Pop. Why hasn't anyone done that earlier?

Crammed with an amazing 14 self-penned tracks plus 3 ultra-strong cover songs the CD is value for your money. Well, ok, but BIG BAD SHAKIN' don't trust simply delivering the well-tryed under a new tag. Not in need of a musical GPS or package holiday guide, they carve their own paths through the jungle. They may sometimes feed a solid Run DMC drum beat under a Southern Rock song or melt untraditionally tough guitar licks with a grooving piano sounding as if taken from a black-and-white movie. Limitations are a thing of the past.

Their massive, infectious stage show can't conceal a simple fact: These guys really have fun doing what they do. You'll see them screaming with laughter, doing cartwheels, drinking advocaat and positively not thinking about tomorrow. You go out to have fun – and you get it right on top of rousing music that you're taking home for the rest of your life.

BIG BAD SHAKIN's Rockin' Cartoon Pop breaks with the oppressive restrictions of genres and music scenes without dissolving into senseless slapstick and Grandfather-Rock'n'Roll. Dancing styles disappear in uselessness, and the audience unites as fun-driven party-makers throughout all age ranges. Target group is everyone who already or still has breath in his body.

Rock'n'Roll has a chance again. But it's called Rockin' Cartoon Pop. By BIG BAD SHAKIN'. – Thank you for that.
